Without fail each year, following the holding of the musical festival at Blairmore, we have several requests to endeavor to stir up the people of Cranbrook, Kimberley and this end of the district into action in reviving the holding of a festival here. Musicians down in the Crow's Nest Pass last week held their 16th annual festival and, as usual, it was a big success, while over in West Kootenay, Nelson and Trail alternate each year in holding a big festival. This year there were over 300 contestants at Blairmore, and the Nelson-Trail festival has fully that number or more. In between is the large area embracing Cranbrook, Kimberley and Creston, not mentioning the small area surrounding places from which much musical talent could be drawn. As an editorial in the Lethbridge Herald has pointed out: "In the days of war, with resulting stress and strain and worry, music offers a relaxation, likewise a source of new courage and faith in the finer instincts of the race that is invaluable." Rather than curtailing our musical expression, it should be increased. It is a tonic to the public morale—an anchor to the soul in the storm beating around us." — Fred Smyth in Cranbrook Courier.

Coleman school board has asked the town council for an appropriation of $44,000 for the year 1941-42, an increase of $4,000.

BLANKET APPEAL CLOSING

DATES ARE MAY 26 AND 27

We are asked to announce that Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27, will be closing dates for the I.O.O.F.-Imperial Oil blanket appeal. Members of the local chapter will be on hand at the Red Trail Motors both days to receive donations.

Blankets are needed for the bombed-out people of Britain. Co-operating with the Imperial Oil Limited throughout Canada, the campaign has been in progress since the latter part of March, during which time new and used books, new clothing, knitted garments, blankets and quilts have been collected and forwarded to Britain to aid bombed-out war victims. Imperial Oil service stations throughout the Dominion have been the collecting depots, who undertook to transport all goods to headquarters free of charge.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

Central United church, Blairmore, was crowded Sunday morning for what, from now on, will be known as The Sunday School Anniversary. Incidentally it fell on Mothers' Day this year, and the sentiment was an added incentive.

The platform of the church was crowded with happy faces. The young people looked lovely in their spring attire behind an array of flowers. Many parents of the children attended the service. Miss Iris May presided at the organ, accompanied by the combined orchestras from the senior and junior Sunday schools. Among the number enjoyed were a chorus by the combined schools, "Like a Mighty Army," a chorus by the Golden Keys group, "Come Worship Him," and an anthem by the choir, "Smiles, Like Sunbeams," a solo, "The Stranger of Gallies," by Louis Gilmar, solo, "When There's Love at Home," by Ellen Jones, anthem, "The Lord's My Shepherd," by Mervyn Hadwell, Jackie Patterson, Roy Vejravara, Roy Tucker and Albert Comfort, solo, "Mother of Mine," by Dora Johnston, and the reciting of the 103rd Psalm, by Lloyd Pinkney. The minister, Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., gave a short address on "Influences that tell for good in the lives of the young."

Great credit for the success of the service is due Mr. W. G. Moffatt, who trained the boys; and the Sunday school teachers, Mrs. D. A. Howe, Mrs. Jas. Warner, Mrs. S. G. Banman, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McKay, Miss Dorothy Moore and Miss Ruth Arrol.

At the evening service the sermon theme was on Mothers' Day. Miss Johnston again sang "Mother of Mine."

Calgary city council has authorized the return of money paid by B. Van Loan for an auto camp site at the corner of Mission Road and Second Street east, and filed the petition of protest signed by 42 property owners of the district who objected to the camp.

SANATORIUM HOTEL SITE TO BE SUMMER PLAYGROUND

Construction on the buildings of a summer resort to be known as "Turkish Mountain Playgrounds" was started Saturday morning by Contractor J. S. D'Appolonia. Estimated cost of construction is $25,000.

Financing the scheme to bring to the Pass the most modern swimming and dancing facilities, as well as other entertainment and comforts, are Wm. Cole, junior, manager of Cole's Theatre, John Kerr, Bellevue business man, and Jim Kerr, proprietor of The Motordrome in Coleman. Mr. John Kerr will manage the enterprise.

The plans call for a swimming pool 35 feet by 100 feet, a dance hall 33 feet by 55 feet, a restaurant, dressing rooms, etc. The water for the pool will be brought from the Frank water works. It is hoped to use the sulphur springs which are located nearby by the pool.

The location of this new summer resort is on the site of the old Frank Sanatorium Hotel, the concrete basement being used to form a base for some of the new buildings.

It is hoped to complete construction not later than July 1st, as the proprietors desire to open the resort to the public on the holiday.

It will be remembered that Mr. Cole, in company with Mr. Jim Fisher, of Bellevue, took steps to start this construction two years ago, but due to the war the venture was abandoned before construction took place.

BUNTING AND DECORATIVE MATERIAL REQUIRED

The committee formed for Blairmore and Frank's campaign in the interest of the 1941 Victory Loan will put into operation the largest and most intensive drive in the history of the Crow's Nest Pass.

Headquarters are being established in Blairmore, with committee rooms in the premises at the west corner of Eighth Avenue and Victoria Street, formerly the Gillis' office.

The committee will need bunting, flags or other patriotic decorations. Every effort is being made to cut expenses, and they will be pleased to hear from any patriotic citizens who are willing to loan any of the above mentioned articles for the next six weeks. Please call Sam McDowell, publicity agent, or Mrs. Gillis (phone 302), the secretary, if you have anything that will help decorate the Blairmore headquarters.

Hitler is going; and this drive will finish him. All that is wanted is 100 per cent effort on the part of everyone.

We understand the committee headquarters have been kindly donated for the campaign by our genial citizen, Mr. C. Sartoris.

ALL FIGHTING SERVICES SUFFER LOSSES

Of 122 persons reported missing when a British ship sailing from Canada to the United Kingdom was lost recently, 94 were members of the fighting forces. Military staff clerks formed the largest group, 33 being reported lost. Other branches included were Royal Canadian Navy ten, Royal Canadian Artillery six, infantry two, New Brunswick Regiment four, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps eight, Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps three, Royal Canadian Engineers two, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps three, Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps five, Canadian Provost Corps one, Royal Air Force eight, Royal Norwegian Air Force three.

Senator J. D. Taylor, 75, publisher of the British Columbian at New Westminster, fell through a sleeper window of a C.N.R. train bound for Ottawa. The body in night clothes was found by the track near Winter, B.C. kitchen.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

A large number of friends gathered at a party shower in honor of Mrs. D. Welsh in the Catholic hall on Tuesday evening of last week, when the recent bride of Dave Welsh received a wide assortment of useful gifts from her many friends.

The Hillcrest school boys' chorus for the first time won the Moffatt cup at the recent musical festival in Blairmore. Blairmore had it for three years and Bellevue for two years.

Mr. William Webster, Mrs. Herman Kirby and two children, Lillian and Des, of Mountain View, and Mr. and Mrs. George Allison, of Waterton, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Webster here last week end.

Dave Welsh is home on a short visit with his parents.

Julius Goldberg, medical student at the University of Alberta, is home for the summer holidays.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

A dance in aid of the Red Cross will be held in Cowley tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tuslan and two small daughters were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood at Cranbrook.

A much welcomed rain fell over this district on Wednesday night.

One of Albert Cleland's ewes gave birth to triplets, all thriving.

On Friday afternoon last Mrs. G. J. Bundy demonstrated a variety of dolls from various countries and periods at the Cowley school.

Harry Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Mollie Milvane and Jimmy Gunn, made a motor trip to Trail for a few days' visit with friends, returning Thursday evening. Harry has leased his farm near Lundbreck.

Mrs. Robert Littleton gave the third of a series of demonstrative lectures on first aid and home nursing at her home on Thursday evening. A goodly number attend these meetings.

Extensive repairs are being effected to the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co.'s manager's residence. In the meantime the Martin family will reside in the old Harry Hannan house near the Catholic church.

The social function sponsored by the Tennyson branch of the Red Cross, and held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Fortier on Sunday afternoon, proved very successful, and a neat sum was realized for the suffering. A large crowd attended. The lawn was packed with children, looking very colorful all dressed up in their summer finery. Crowds gathered at the tennis and horseshoe courts, pleasantly passing a few hours. Another pleasing feature was the motion picture show in technicolor, operated by Harry Meade, of Bellevue, in Mrs. Fortier's spacious living room. A handsome rug, donated by Mrs. Ambrose Horning of the Cowley hotel, will be sold at a future date.

Pincher Creek will install a booster pump.

Bob Hamner has joined up with the Royal Canadian Engineers at Calgary.

Mrs. J. S. Chaput, of Pincher Creek, has accepted a position on the staff of Macdonald & Co. at High River.

Gordon McPhail underwent an appendicectomy operation at the local hospital yesterday, and is reported doing well.

Hon. McLarty, labor minister, announces that Canada's unemployment insurance act will come into effect on July 1st.

Among those receiving the degree of bachelor of divinity from Pine Hill Divinity Hall recently was Rev. D. C. Boothroyd, son of Rev. F. E. Boothroyd, former Methodist-United minister at Taber and Irma, Alberta, and now in New Brunswick conference. Rev. D. C. is pastor of a United church in Charlottetown, P.E.I. He is a native of Newfoundland.

ORGANIZE FOR VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

Patriotism and enthusiasm were the keynote of a meeting held in the Cosmopolitan hotel on Wednesday night, when representative citizens of Bellevue, Hillcrest, Frank and Blairmore met together to complete the organization of committees in connection with the Victory Loan campaign of 1941.

Mayor E. Williams acted as chairman, and F. J. Turner, of Bellevue, as secretary for the joint meeting. Sixteen others were present, including J. K. Ringland, of Lethbridge, organizer for the Pincher Creek-Crows' Nest division. Mr. Williams spoke in a patriotic vein, and asked for the whole-hearted support of all in a concerted drive for this Victory Loan, and appealed to everyone to uphold the splendid record which the Crows' Nest Pass had already established in the former drives for War Services Funds, War Savings Certificates and other war efforts.

In a concise manner, Mr. Ringland outlined the Victory Loan organization, dealing in turn with the provincial organization, then the electoral divisions organization, and in more detail, the unit or local organizations. A general discussion followed relating to the details of the organization; the manner of completing a successful selling campaign, and the details necessary for a complete office record of all calls made by the special representatives on every citizen in the district.

One of the outstanding points made by the organizer was the difference between investing in War Savings certificates and in Victory Bonds. He said the certificates represent the investment of income, while the new bonds are intended to utilize the monies now laying in the various savings accounts in Canada. Figures relating to the amounts on deposit in savings accounts and the amount required to take care of the Victory Loan issue show that if only 25 per cent of the money now in savings accounts is converted to this new War Bond issue, then the Six Hundred Million Dollars asked for by the finance minister will be well taken care of.

Local units have now been completed in Coleman, Blairmore-Frank and Bellevue-Hillcrest, each having its own organizer, advisory board and committee of representatives, who will take care of the actual selling of the bonds.

The following officers and advisory boards have already been appointed, and the committee of representatives will be completed in the near future: Blairmore-Frank—W. H. Chappell, unit organizer; Mayor E. Williams, chairman; C. J. Tompkins, vice-chairman; Mrs. J. Gillis, secretary; S. McDowell, D. MacPherson, Sidney White, R. E. Donkin, John Danco, Ben Hosh, Bellevue-Hillcrest—W. R. Warn, G. E. Cruickshank, William Kerr, F. J. Turner, M. D. McEachern, William Cole, Junior, D. B. Young, H. O. Westrup, Phil McNeill, Rev. Father Anderson and John Dugdale, executive.

Headquarters offices for Blairmore will be located in the office previously used by the late J. E. Gillis, now owned by C. Sartoris, and kindly donated by him rent free for the use of the local organization. In Bellevue the headquarters will be in the office of Mr. Fred J. Turner, opposite the Bellevue Inn.

It is understood that the headquarters offices will open on May 19th at 1 p.m., and remain open until late each evening during the campaign.

The actual selling campaign will open on Monday, June 2nd, and from that date on, the committee of representatives will be canvassing all residents of the district for their subscriptions.

Subscriptions may also be made to the Victory Loan through the banks or through the headquarters office at each unit.

Build For Post-War Era

Canadians who are interested in the national welfare and the conduct of the country's business—and who aren't—must have experienced some satisfaction in reading the records of Canadian transportation during 1940, recently published.

It was very gratifying, for instance, to learn that the gross revenues of the Canadian railways during 1940 reached their highest point since 1930 and, at the same time, a new system of transportation which has come into the field in the past few years and to some extent is competitive with the railways, namely commercial aerial traffic, as represented by the transcontinental system, recorded a new high and reported a surplus on operations.

The figures revealed in the reports of the two transcontinental railway systems and of the Trans-Canada Air Lines constitute an excellent barometer of the state of health of business generally. When business is on the upgrade, that fact is necessarily reflected in increased traffic for the country's transportation systems, both in goods and passengers.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics recently reported a combined increase of income of $27,500,000 in 1940 over the preceding year for the two transcontinental railways, the gross revenue of the two systems being nearly $425,000,000. At first glance it would look as if the railways were overtaking the motor vehicles which they have been operating for the past decade, but this hope vanishes with the concurrent announcement that operating expenses in 1940 were heavier than in the previous year by $29,600,000, so that a balance leaves the railways $2,100,000 worse off than in 1939.

Up In The Air

From the financial viewpoint the annual report of that infant transportation system, Trans-Canada Air Lines makes better reading, for we find that against a gross revenue in 1940 of $4,592,000 is offset operating expenses, including depreciation of aircraft and ground facilities and interest of investment, of $4,053,000, leaving an overall surplus of over half a million dollars. And it is all the more gratifying to note that notwithstanding rising prices, operating costs were reduced from 88.4 cents per mile to 87.9 cents, or 13 per cent.

It is interesting to note that the budget for T.C.A. for 1941-42, as presented in the House of Commons by Hon. C. D. Howe anticipates a revenue of $5,873,000 of which over $3,000,000 will be earned by carrying air mail and over $2,000,000 revenue from passengers and this is expected despite a decision to reduce the air mail rate from 60 cents to 40 cents per mile. The actual cost of carrying the airmail last year was 53 cents.

"We have brought the cost of carrying airmail in Canada down to about the cost of the United States," said Mr. Howe. "This is something of a feat as we have to pay about 50 per cent. more for our equipment than American lines do."

The increased business brought to the railway companies and the transcontinental airlines is of course, largely, perhaps entirely attributable to war production, directly and indirectly. Much of the increased freight traffic which the railway companies enjoyed was heavy goods, raw materials and finished, utilized in aeroplanes, guns, munitions and other fighting gear. War service furnished by Trans-Canada Air Lines consisted of traffic largely arising out of the war for the armed forces and that section of Canadian business engaged particularly in war time production.

Economic Insurance Policy

Consideration of these reports, while inspiring a measure of satisfaction that the transportation systems of the country are presently enjoying an upsurge, also leads to some speculation as to what is going to happen to this improving financial position, not only of the concerns devoted to the carriage of merchandise and passengers, but to all business, public and private, after the war.

One must not be led into a false sense of security because things are going well just now, nor into the false assumption that increases in revenues will continue after the war, unless policies are now shaped and plans now laid to ensure this result.

It would seem to be the part of wisdom while revenues are buoyant, for governments and public and private enterprise to continue to keep expenses down to the minimum, just as they would have to do during a depression, constant, of course with efficiency. This will enable surpluses and reserves to be built up against the time when they will be urgently needed.

In addition, apart from expenditures necessitated by efficient and maximum prosecution of the war, it behooves the governments of the country—federal, provincial and municipal, to curtail expenses for services and enterprises to the greatest possible degree, in order that any surpluses and reserves which may have been built up as a result of war time prosperity may be available for public works and services, giving what will undoubtedly prove to be in the post-war period, urgently needed employment and urgently required expenditure.

Private business and the private individual will follow the same policy if they are wise. No one can predict definitely what financial and economic conditions will follow in the train of the war, but the adoption of, and strict adherence to such tenets will prove to be a safe economic insurance policy.

Good Samaritans

It isn't such a bad world after all—and here's a case in point: A half-dozen school boys at Danville, Ill., learning of the plight of Richard L. Hedge who has been ill for 20 years and bedfast most of that time, came from their school six miles away to spend most of his garden. They knew his only source of income was from the bulbs and flowers he sells from his small plot.

Keeping Up With Times

Canada Has Plans For Training Parachute Troops This Summer

Parachute troops may be trained in Montreal this summer. Present plans are tentative, but the scheme would be carried out by the army in co-operation with the R.C.A.F. St. Hubert airport is a likely training centre.

New methods of warfare make parachute troops as vital as armored troops and Canada is anxious to be up to the minute. At first it is likely that a picked group of junior officers, and perhaps some N.C.O.'s would be given jumping instruction. They in turn would pass along the theoretical part of the instruction to their men, thus speeding the teaching of larger bodies should the policy be deemed advisable.

Early this summer, St. Hubert will be turned over to the R.C.A.F., with the new Dorval airport handling all civilian traffic so there will be lots of room for army jumping training. Training of parachute troops involves first a long course of tumbling and falling to teach the men how to prevent being hurt on landing. Then the men learn to jump without equipment and afterward with full pack and kit.

Major-General's Advice

In his advice to 41 young officers of the Canadian Army overseas, Major-General Victor Odum said: "Be human with your men. Their lives are important to you and so are their hearts. It's not hard to win the love of men, but you first have to be a man yourself and show them you're white all through." Such fine precepts should produce splendid fighting men.

Putting Them Right

London Paper Regrets Necessity Of

Correcting Rome Radio Report

Since Mussolini has proclaimed in public on so many occasions that Italian war news is the most reliable of the lot, it seems a pity to have a correct one of its latest achievements. But the Rome wireless was wrong in announcing last week that "the Queen Mother, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, accompanied by the crown jewels," recently left for America on the same battleship as Lord and Lady Halifax.

Actually, it was Mr. Churchill who departed, disguised as all three of them and carrying the crown jewels in a cigar-box. His place has since been supplied in public by a stuffed eel, with Mr. Duff Cooper who has lately made great progress with the ventriloquist art) supplying the voice.

Mr. Anthony Eden, by the way, is in a concentration camp. It is Mr. Vic Oliver who has gone to Ankara, while his make-up is said to have deceived even Sir John Dill—Manchester Guardian.

Royal Memories

Story Told By Mark Twain Proves They Are Good

Mark Twain commented once at a public dinner that he had written a friendly letter to Queen Victoria protesting against a tax being levied against him. "I don't know you," he wrote, "but I've met your son. He was at the head of a procession in the Strand, and I was on a bus." Years afterward he met King Edward VII. and they had a long talk. At parting the King said, "I am glad to have met you again." The word "again" troubled Twain, who asked whether the King had not mistaken him for someone else. The reply, "Why, don't you remember meeting me in the Strand when I was at the head of a procession and you were on a bus?" revealed the strength of royal memories.

An ancient Indian lope-some, worn thin from many years' pounding, was discovered by a truck driver, in an old earth mound at Fort Erie, Ont. About half a foot in length, the stone apparently was used by the Huron tribe to grind corn.

Just Stopping-Off Place

GATTI'S In The Strand Looks After Fighting Forces

William Mundy writes in the Overseas Daily Mail: "Gatti's in the Strand, once favorite rendezvous for men-about-town, diners out, actors, jockeys, and world-famous figures, is now a stopping-off place for the night for His Majesty's Fighting Forces."

It's a sort of clearing house for the Services when they travel—a terminus run by the Y.M.C.A.

Sailors on their way to a ship, airmen returning to their squadron and soldiers rejoining their units now have a night at Gatti's.

Gatti's is not nearly so expensive these days. Revolution has come to Gatti's. Also the Y.M.C.A.

Bed and bath—one shilling. Breakfast—a modest ten-pence, and plenty of it to boot.

Guests at Gatti's arrive late and leave early. More of a night in than a night out at Gatti's nowadays. Each man is called at a different hour. The calling system is unique, involved, but practical.

Night porter and inventor of the system is silver-haired but active James Gamble—Mister Gamble to all the Forces.

Mister Gamble, who looks like a Woodcock butler, is persuasive, unruffled, and a diplomat. He is valet and tender nurse to the three fighting Services; he looks after their money and posts their letters home. He even looks the stamps.

Austrians, Dutch, Free French, Czechs, Poles, Canadians, and Americans in Canadian uniform—Mister Gamble handles them all tactfully, puts them to bed, and may even draw them a bath in the morning.

As I left Gatti's and walked home through the blackout, an interesting thought came to me. And not too improbable.

Mister Gamble's call-book cost no more than two pence. It is crumpled and thumbed, but that school exercise book plays a part in the war effort in its own way.

It helps to get ships out to sea to their convoy; warplanes up from aerodromes on schedule; soldiers back to their guns.

After the war there'll be many grateful memories in the four corners of the Empire and in the backwaters of the oceans for Mister Gamble of Gatti's and his call-book.

African Experience

American Airman, Lost In The Bush, Is Finally Rescued

Prescott Fagan, the only American serving with the South African Air Force, is being initiated into the ways of the bush country, according to a message from Nairobi, Kenya.

Forced down in the Kambe country, Fagan wireless his position to his base. The message was intercepted by a white hunter, who sent his native scouts to "find" Fagan.

One scout located Fagan but taking his orders literally, he surveyed the grounded plane from a distance and started back to the hunter's camp. Fortunately, Fagan had seen the scout peer from behind a bush and dart away, and he gave chase.

For 15 miles the "fox" chased his "rescuer" through the bushes. The native finally escaped. Fagan stumbled on aimlessly and came upon a white man, sitting on a stack of petrol cans.

"Hello, Livingstone, I presume," Fagan said.

"No, sir," the man replied, "I am Corporal Vandermere of the base of petrol supplies."

No Winner This Year

Time Of Ice Breakup At Dawson Was Not Recorded

When the ice broke up in the Yukon river, April 30, hundreds of persons who had guessed the time of the breakup—and backed their guesses with hard cash—tore up their tickets in the big pool without knowing who had come closest to being the winner.

Electric apparatus which stops the official clock at Dawson when the ice goes out failed to work when the breakup came. The pool—amounting to $4,000 this year—goes to the person whose guess is nearest the exact minute of the breakup.

The money will be carried over until next year, although smaller pools will be decided by draw. The breakup came at approximately 10:50 a.m., the second time on record the ice has moved out in April.

British Prisoners Receive Parcels

Enjoy Real Butter And Honey Biscuits By Canadian Red Cross

The first letter from a British prisoner of war in Germany giving proof that food parcels sent from Canada were being received and enjoyed in a German prison camp, was read to the Central Council of the Canadian Red Cross.

Guardman Arthur Hook, taken prisoner at Dunkirk, wrote his sister, Miss Wynne Hook, 2146 Grand Boulevard, Montreal: "We have just received an issue of Red Cross parcels."

(My third since I've been prisoner). Some chaps were extremely fortunate and got the Canadian type. What a lovely parcel!—a pound tin of butter (real butter)—honey and a host of other good things. Now I want you to see about getting me a parcel like that with one addition—a couple of tins of peanut butter. I dream of the stuff."

Red Cross officials believe the Canadian food parcels, first to be distributed in Germany, were in a shipment of 5,000 sent to Marseilles on the American Red Cross Mercy ship, which were reported by International Red Cross representatives to have arrived in splendid condition.

The Canadian Red Cross is packing 10,000 food parcels a week for British prisoners of war in Germany at the request of the British Red Cross.

Might Be Explanation

Polynesians May Speak Slowly Because They Have Little To Say

The French, according to the New York Telephone Company, are the world's fastest talkers. They are able to speak 350 syllables a minute, while English-speaking people can pronounce only about 220 syllables in the same period. The Polynesians speak only about 50 syllables a minute, or at one-seventh the speed of the French. It has been suggested that maybe they haven't much to say.

It is possible by chemical tests, says the U.S. Bureau of Investigation, to determine whether a person was drowned by salt water or fresh water.

BRAN WAFFLES RING THE BREAKFAST BELL

Let the lagards beware! When bran waffles are on the breakfast bill, sleepy heads are out of luck, for these fluffy golden-brown waffles disappear faster than it takes to turn them over. It's the bran that adds the nutlike taste, and brings the family down to breakfast in record time. Just follow this easy recipe:

All-Brain Waffles Supreme

2 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup all-bran
1 1/2 cups flour

4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup melted shortening

Beat egg yolks well; add milk and all-bran; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar; add to liquid mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Add melted and cooled shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot waffle iron until no steam is visible.

Yield: Seven waffles (8 1/2 inches in diameter).

ISSUES WARNING THAT SEA LOSSES CONTINUE HEAVY

London.—The British government indirectly warned against false optimism over the Battle of the Atlantic by stating that ship losses in April were almost as severe as in any preceding month of the war.

Authoritative sources immediately estimated that the month's losses may have reached the neighborhood of 46,000 tons.

The admiralty announcement on April sinkings is expected soon. But the ministry of information, pressed by newspapermen for a statement in view of reports from Washington indicated shipping losses had been low, issued a communique.

It said in part:

"The figures shortly to be issued by the admiralty will show that, while the position with regard to the Battle of the Atlantic has in the last month shown an improvement, nevertheless, owing to losses in the Mediterranean, the total tonnage at the command of the Allies has suffered as severely almost as in any preceding month during the war."

The heaviest losses of British, her allies and neutrals was in June 1940, when the total, which included the Dunkirk sinkings, was slightly over 463,000 tons. Next in seriousness was last September when 426,000 tons were sunk—35 British vessels totalling 155,100 tons, and the remainder Allied and neutral.

The statement was issued to point out that figures issued in Washington showing only slight losses were inaccurate. These figures were given to the United States senate by Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, who said he was quoting Admiral Emory Land, chairman of the U.S. maritime commission, to the effect that 12 vessels were lost out of 205 sailing for British ports in the first three months of 1941.

(Admiral Land issued a statement that his figures referred only to "reported sinkings" and "there is reason to believe that actual losses run substantially greater than reported losses.")

April losses of more than 400,000 tons would place that month high in the list of gloomy months in this war but lower than the month of the spring of 1937 when the heaviest out submarine warfare cost the Allies severe losses which ranged up to 468,000 tons in February, 531,000 in March, 840,000 in April (the peak month of the war), 551,900 in May and 533,000 in June.

From then on, as the British and U.S. fleets tackled the convoy and submarine-destruction problems together, losses to submarines declined until they reached an average throughout 1918 of approximately 250,000 tons a month.

Rear Admiral Emory S. Land said there is reason to believe actual losses of ships en route to Britain were "substantially greater than reported losses" later in his recent letter to Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.).

The maritime commission chairman said in a statement his letter to Vandenberg was in response to a question "which dealt solely with losses of cargo on vessels clearing from United States ports."

During the first three months of 1941, Land told Vandenberg that 12 vessels were sunk while carrying products subject to U.S. export license. He added this comment:

"This indicates that only a very small proportion of these vessels failed to reach their destination."

"It should be noted," Land said in his statement, "that the letter gave 'reported sinkings.' These are sinkings reported by the press and other sources of information. There is reason to believe that actual losses run substantially greater than reported losses. It should also be noted that the letter referred to clearances from United States ports only."

"It appears that as a reply to a specific question has been interpreted as being a complete report on a topic on which complete information is not available."

Acquire Air Lines

C.P.R. Has Majority Interest in Four Lines in Western Canada
Montreal.—Canadian Pacific Railway Company has acquired a "majority interest" in four airlines operating in western Canada. It was announced by Sir Edward Healey, president, at the company's annual meeting here.

The airlines are Mackenzie Air Service Limited, Yukon Southern Air Transport Limited, Blarriet Airways and Transportation Limited and Ginger Coote Airways Limited.

Sir Edward's report said the C.P.R. now is engaged in reorganizing its operations under their former executives and managers. "Many details remain to be settled, and it is deemed inexpedient in the interest of the shareholders to make any more explicit statement of the position at the present time."

None of the companies, Sir Edward added, is engaged in service competitive with those of the Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Heads Voluntary Army

Colonel Whitby in Charge Of British Army Blood Transfusion Service

Somewhere in England.—A famous bacteriologist, Col. Whitby, heads a voluntary army of 100,000 people whose purpose is not to take life but to save it. Col. Whitby is in charge of the blood transfusion service of the British army, both in this country and abroad. His "army" consists of blood donors of both sexes, ranging in age from 18 to 80 and drawn from the five southwestern counties in the centre of which his headquarters are situated.

Head of the organization is a small room about the size of a larder. In it 2,000 bottles resembling pint milk bottles are stacked from floor to ceiling. They represent, said Col. Whitby, "the difference between life and death," to approximately 20,000 casualties.

Foreign Agents

Members Of Nazi News Agency In U.S. May Be Deported

Washington.—Attorney General Robert Jackson announced that Manfred Zapp and Guenther Tonn, German citizens and resident in the U.S., are being held without bail for failure to register as foreign agents in connection with the operation of a Nazi news agency, had been arrested and are being held without bail on deportation charges.

Hickson, said that Zapp and Tonn were taken into custody and are being held at the Ellis Island, N.Y., immigration headquarters.

The action is based on the contention that the two officials, officials said, that the two Germans had not maintained their status as treaty merchants under which they entered the United States.

Arms For African Troops

More Equipment Than Britain Lost In Greece Has Arrived

London.—Lord Moyne, colonial secretary, told the house of lords in a war review that the Balkan reserve "has given us two or three months of invaluable time to reinforce our position in the eastern Mediterranean."

"It's true we have lost material in Greece," he said. "We have only been able to evacuate light equipment and have had to destroy heavy armaments. But meanwhile larger quantities than which we have lost have had time to arrive at Red sea ports."

Machine Exports Halted

United States Will Not Send Any More To Russia

Washington.—The United States has halted all exports to Russia of machinery or equipment which can be utilized in defence production.

The policy was adopted, it was said, despite strenuous Soviet diplomatic efforts to obtain the necessary export permits and despite the fact some of the machines involved had been ordered and paid for by the Russians months ago.

Canadian Nurses For S. Africa

Joint Defence Board

The United States And Canada To Collaborate

Washington.—The United States and Canada will set up closely collaborating economic defence boards in the immediate future, it was learned authoritatively, to speed up mobilization of North American resources for aid-to-Britain and western hemisphere defence.

In the economic, industrial and financial fields, the new boards would complement the work of the joint Canada-United States defence board set up a year ago to co-ordinate the military and naval defence preparations of the Dominion and United States.

The immediate task of the new economic boards, it was said, will be to expedite the program contemplated in the agreement for joint Canadian-United States productive efforts, which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister King announced April 20.

ACCORD HONORS TO MR. MENZIES IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa.—So long as the dominions stand, Great Britain shall not fall, Prime Minister Robert Menzies told a cheering House of Commons.

"If it was the desire of our enemy to divide us and conquer us we can tell him now that he has failed," said the Australian prime minister from a special place made for him on the floor of the commons.

Mr. Menzies said if there was one outstanding inspiration gained from his travels, it was the unity of the English-speaking people. Nothing matters but the winning of the war, he said. It would not matter if the empire emerged bankrupt from the war, if the rich became poorer, if all had lower standards of living, if a sharing of "honorable poverty" became the reward of public life.

Rounds of thunderous applause greeted Mr. Menzies. The honor of a seat on the floor is rarely accorded and usually reserved for visiting prime ministers of other nations of the British Commonwealth.

When orders of the day were reached, Mr. King said Canadians were pleased to have Mr. Menzies safely in Canada after his journey from Great Britain.

Mr. King moved the motion sitting he suspended indefinitely "for the purpose of welcoming in this chamber the Rt. Hon. R. G. Menzies, prime minister of the Commonwealth of Australia," and "that the speeches on this occasion be entered in the journal of this house and form a part of the permanent records of parliament."

The usually unemotional House of Commons went far from its usual ways to raise a thunder of fate hitting deals as they did honor to Mr. Menzies and through him to the fighting forces of the sister dominion. Before Mr. King had a chance to open his remarks the house broke into wild applause for the Australian.

It was renewed again and again as Mr. King spoke.

As Mr. King spoke of Australians' heroism in Africa, in Europe and elsewhere, the members gave applause for each contribution by Australians to empire good.

Mr. Menzies said he accepted the greatest honor a British parliament could confer realizing it was extended to him as the representative of Australia.

In the Middle East, he said he had the supreme privilege of "following the Australian soldiers over battlefields on which I believe they immortalized their names."

He also saw men and ships of the Australian navy at a naval base in the Mediterranean.

He said some had considered the Greek expedition "ill-fated." "I have never been able to see it in that sense," he said. "Greece showed in that same iron quality as the quality we associate with our own nations. Greece won undying fame because she was not prepared to take two minutes in calculating the odds against her."

When the challenge came the Greeks decided they had to defend their homes. He was unable to understand how anyone with British blood could have thought of refusing aid to the Greeks.

The fact Greek soil was now enriched by the blood of young men from distant lands, men who came from the newest civilization to help the oldest, was "one more proof that there is something in us which is the spark of life and it is for us to defend it and give it the opportunity of doing its illuminating work in the world."

To Canada, Mr. Menzies said, he brought a message of utter and unlimited brotherhood. There was no duality in Canada, he could tell his people.

"Nothing else matters, except that we should live, when this war is over, in a free world, the kind of world we want to live in," Mr. Menzies said.

Helps Refugees Escape

Secret Organization Is Said To Be Busy In France

London.—A smooth-working secret organization active along the entire border between the German-occupied and unoccupied zones of France, smuggling out persons unable to get permits to leave, is described by refugees reaching Portugal.

The Germans, unable to spare the men necessary to patrol every foot of the boundary, recently have started firing upon persons sighted escaping, the refugees said, and four or five are reported killed every week.

Fees paid for escape range from nothing—some Englishmen and women have been slipped across the line gratis—to many thousands of francs.

The refugees estimated there are 20 to 30 "guides" devoting their entire time to arranging escapes. But this number is swelled by uncounted hundreds of French peasants who lead a band either from patriotism or for financial gain.

Stories are told of how even some Germans help the refugees.

NERISSA WAS SUNK OFF THE COAST OF IRELAND

New York.—The British passenger liner Nerissa, a sturdy little ship that had survived attacks by pocket-battleship, submarine and plane, was identified as the vessel sunk off the Irish coast with a loss of 122 lives, including 12 Americans.

Eleven of the Americans were air-planes flying over the sea. British Admiralty reaching here said 34 passengers and 84 crew—including the skipper, Capt. George Watson—went down with the ship 50 miles off the Irish coast, presumably after a submarine attack. These advisers said 35 were saved, including 22 wounded.

The 5,583-ton Nerissa is reported to have left Halifax April 19 and presumably was sunk about 10 days later.

The Nerissa, a Furness liner in the New York, Bermuda, Halifax run before the war, was placed in the perilous North Atlantic run between Boston, Halifax and Liverpool when U-boats began to take their toll of British ships.

Crew members regarded her as a "charmed ship" after half-a-dozen voyages.

Last September an Italian submarine attacked her convoy and was destroyed when another ship rammed her. On Oct. 31 a "shower of bombs" fell around the vessel at her Liverpool berth.

On her next voyage a Nazi pocket battleship sank half-a-dozen ships in the convoy but the Nerissa zig-zagged her way into Boston.

On April 9 a submarine attacked her about 700 miles southeast of Greenland but she escaped again.

The Nerissa was built in 1926 at Glasgow and her home port before the war was Hamilton, Bermuda.

Conditions In Berlin

Take Trouble To Cover Up Damage By British Bomb Raids

London.—Labor and commodity shortages in Germany are indicated by reports reaching London from many sources.

A Swede, after drily remarking: "On arrival in Berlin visible bomb damage by the British is negligible, but later one learns to see it by peeping behind built-up scaffolding." He said gasoline shortage has reduced motor traffic to a minimum and only two or three taxis are available for the stations.

"Investigation of the bountiful displays in the shop windows disclose that the goods are either not for sale or 'already sold.'"

"For the average German coffee, tea and cocoa no longer exist, clothing designs and colors are of restricted range although elegant uniforms are easy to obtain for all armed services."

Encountering More Civilians

Gibraltar.—Further evacuation of civilians at the earliest possible time from this British fortress was announced. Lists of those who are to leave contain the names of more than 1,000 persons, including many Spanish refugees who had found shelter here since the Spanish civil war.

Reach An Agreement

Vichy.—It was officially announced that Vice-Prasmer Jean Darlan and German plenipotentiary at Paris had reached an agreement "envisaging" a 25 per cent. reduction in the cost of supporting the German army in occupation.

FUTURE OF THE WORLD IS TO BE DECIDED BY WAR

Montreal.—The new world order will come not from the Nazis but from the people of the British Commonwealth, Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, new British high commissioner, told a joint meeting of the Montreal board of trade and its chamber of commerce here.

"It is the subjects of the British crown, scattered round the globe, who are building in their commonwealth of free and equal nations the model for a new world order," he declared.

"The struggle may be hard. It may be long. But in the end victory will assuredly rest not with the bragging mimics of the dead past but with the pioneers of the brighter future."

"No one set of warriors will win this war," Mr. MacDonald said. "It is the combination of the efforts of many different sets of people which will bring success. The war will be won if every person plays the particular part allotted to him with all his might. The Canadian taxpayers have got a distinct part to play."

The people of Britain will hold out as long as they are supplied with food. If every person plays the part allotted to him with all his might, the Canadian taxpayers have got a distinct part to play."

Discuss Labor Conditions

Co-operation Between Provincial And Federal Governments

Ottawa.—Labor conditions in Dominion government contracts and co-operation between the provincial and federal governments with a view to enforcement of these conditions were discussed at a conference between Labor Minister McLarty and several provincial labor department heads.

The conference also discussed the conciliation work which is being carried on.

Discussion was informal in its nature. The federal department said the purpose being to obtain free expression of views from those in attendance.

Among those present at the conference were Hon. R. J. M. Parker, Saskatchewan minister of municipal affairs; and Hon. F. Johnston, commissioner, Saskatchewan bureau of labor.

Education And Democracy

Good Word Is Said For School Systems In The West

Toronto.—C. C. Caruthers, former school board chairman in Ontario, said, speaking on "Education and Democracy" at a luncheon for the convention of Associated High School Boards, said Ontario's education system is by no means the best one in Canada. "British Columbia is 10 years ahead of Ontario," he said. "Saskatchewan may not pay high salaries to its teachers, but it is proud of its educational system. It does not follow that the best system is where the highest salaries are paid."

M. MacDonnell, Toronto.

Defeating Ship Campaign

THE PRESS AND PROPAGANDA

One of the ever present dangers in the publishing field is the possibility of becoming a propaganda agency for some group or cause. Editors guard carefully against this possibility, and their efforts to be fair sometimes incur the displeasure of those whose propaganda they refuse to propagate. Of course, there are two kinds of propaganda—good and bad. The word propaganda has been much abused in the past few years, and to the man on the street propaganda now seems to mean exclusively that type of news sent out by the enemy to confuse and confound those who read it.

Propaganda is actually the method adopted for the propagation of doctrines and principles, either religious or secular. If there is such a thing as good propaganda, the question naturally arises, why does the newspaper not become a propaganda agency for all propaganda that is good? As a matter of fact the newspaper does become such an agency in a broad sense, but not in just the way that some propagandists would have it. For instance, any religious sect might consider its propaganda good, and therefore entitled to space in the newspaper. An important factor is overlooked, however, in this reasoning. Propaganda espoused and supported by a newspaper must be of a type generally beneficial to the community as a whole. It would not be fair or ethical to use the propaganda of one church, where there are perhaps half a dozen churches in the same community.

Then, too, there is often confusion in the minds of many people as to what is news and what is propaganda. For instance, an item relating to an actual event which took place in a church, or a lodge, or a service club, would be news. On the other hand, an item which sought to impress the reader with the principles or the doctrine of the organization would be propaganda. In short, propaganda is that type of newsmatter which seeks to proselytize or convert the reader to one particular code of ethics, principles or doctrine.

The position of the newspaper is clear on this point. The newspaper is representative of the whole community, and while its editor or publisher might be an Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, United Churchman or Roman Catholic, it would not be fair to give undue prominence to the doctrines of the sect to which he personally belongs. News is another matter. If more news comes from the United church because it has more organizations, or because its press secretaries are more wide awake, then naturally that church would receive more space in the paper than the Anglican or Baptist if those churches were not so well organized, or did not possess good press secretaries.

Weekly newspapers depend to a very large extent upon correspondents and press secretaries for news items, and this being the case it is timely to remind correspondents and secretaries that the newspaper is interested primarily in the news, and not in acting as an agency for the dissemination of their principles. This reasoning, however, does not preclude the newspaper drawing attention to any special effort made by any organization or institution within the community.

To sum up the attitude of the press toward propaganda it should be clearly understood that the press is interested in the events concerning organizations, rather than the ethics or principles which attract one to membership in these groups.

DESTROY EVIL FORCE OF GERMANY AIM

Britain's first war aim is the destruction of the powerful evil force of Germany, and liberation of nations now held in bondage, declared the Archbishop of Canterbury on Sunday in a special broadcast. He said it was apparent that men had neglected God by trusting too much in themselves. But it will help us in the immediate struggle if we can look beyond the immediate darkness to the coming of a better day.

The boys are starting to wear shorter pants and shoe-high socks. And, boy, aren't the girls admiring 'em!

PAINLESS DENTISTRY

Doc Lillie tells this one, so it must be true:

A big good-natured Irishman from the foothills called to see the so-called "painless dentist," to have a troublesome molar removed. The dentist, seeing the size of his patient, and suspecting that he was liable to create trouble if the operation wasn't entirely painless, said to his office boy: "Jimmy, go and get a large-size hatpin and stand behind the operating chair. As soon as the patient gets into position, I'll wink and you jab the pin through the seat of the chair."

When the dentist was ready he gave that signal to the boy, and with a yell the patient sprang from the chair. "Well," said doc, "that didn't hurt much, eh?"

"No," the Irishman replied, "but Oi didn't know the darned roots went down so far!"

Lost from our coat on Monday button, similar to one that disappeared two months ago.

HARD ON THE WEST

The Innisfail Province draws attention to the fact that the west is suffering from the war while the east is experiencing prosperity due to the widespread industrial boom there. It also mentions that thousands of young men from western towns have joined the army and their productive efforts lost to their communities. So, it concludes the east should not kick about the efforts of the federal government to help the western wheat farmers.

It is true that the war has hit the west hard. The worst of the situation is that the war's aftermath will find the farmers in poor plight to cope with conditions. Unfortunately, nothing much can be done about the situation. Germany is the real culprit and only when she is brought to book can the western farmers look forward with hopefulness.

A vote of confidence resulted in 447 to 3 in favor of Winston Churchill and his programme.

What might have been a serious accident happened near Joe Pye's service station on Sunday afternoon, when Fred McDougall's car, containing his family, lost a wheel when travelling at a very low rate of speed. Slight damage was done to the car, which failed to turn over, and the occupants escaped without any injury.

CANADA CALLS

Canada has reason to count her blessings in these days of trial.

Canada is three thousand miles away from the sound of guns which are devastating Europe.

The broad Atlantic Ocean rolls between us and the ruthless savagery of the German Armies.

The strongest fleets in the world—British, American and Canadian—patrol the sea between us and the enemy.

We have a great friendly nation, probably the richest and most powerful in the world, at our side.

CANADA CAN AFFORD HER SACRIFICES

This war is a mechanized war.

We have the nickel... copper... lead... zinc and other metals the war industries need. We have access to the iron. We can make the steel.

We have the organized industries to fabricate these metals and make the trucks, and tanks, and guns, and planes, and the ships.

We have skilled workers and the plants for mass production. Canada has the wheat and the food supplies.

Let us count our blessings, and tighten our belts.

Canada is rich—one of the richest countries per head of population in the world. Let us lend our strength to the utmost of our power. Our national future depends upon Victory.

We must win to live.

THERE WILL BE FURTHER CALLS

There have been many calls upon the people of this country for money since Canada entered the war at the side of Great Britain.

There will be further calls.

Let us face the future unafraid.

Canada can carry the load.

But every Canadian must shoulder his and her share.

This is the most critical hour in our history. Let the future historians say of Canada, as they will say of our Mother Country: "This was their finest hour."

MAKE BIG DRIVE FOR TOURIST TRADE

With drives for tourist business under way on a wide front, Alberta should receive a large share of that trade this year, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Thousands of attractive tourist booklets have been distributed in the United States by the provincial publicity bureau. In addition, there has been extensive advertising of Canada's attractions to tourists in various U.S. publications, and Alberta is certain to obtain a large share of the benefits.

This year it is hoped to increase Alberta's tourist trade turnover to about $10,000,000, more than double the 1940 figures.

Taking merely one-half that sum, or $5,000,000, as the amount that would be paid out directly for primary products, it will be seen how important this business is to the farmers of this province. Those who produce eggs, butter, cheese, ice cream, poultry, meats and other items share immediately in the benefits of the tourist trade.

This is cash business. There is no waiting for the returns. The tourist wants good quality products and is willing to pay cash on the line.

With the improvement of roads, these rural producers will be in a position to take their products to the centres where tourist trade is in full swing. They will be extending their markets in other words. Not only will they be winning new market outlets, but also they may have the chance to get better prices.

WINGS FOR BRITAIN

The following lines, translated from Gray's "Luna Habitablis," written at Cambridge in 1787, are being published throughout Canada as a prophecy which Wings for Britain, a volunteer Canadian fund, with headquarters at 216 St. James Street West, Montreal, hopes to help come true. Wings for Britain has been registered under the War Charities Act and is incorporated in Canada to serve as an agency through which all contributions of planes for the R.A.F. may be made: "Luna Habitablis."

Cambridge, 1787

The time will come, when thou shalt lift thine eyes

To watch a long-drawn battle in the skies,

While aged peasants, too amazed for words,

Stare at the flying fleets of wondrous birds.

England, so long the mistress of the seas,

Where winds and waves confess her sovereignty;

Her ancient triumphs yet on high shall bear,

And reign, the sovereign of the conquered air.

Every $22,350 contributed through Wings for Britain purchases another fighter plane to help the R.A.F. gain mastery of the air.

ANOTHER ONE FOR RIPLEY

From Monte Lake, B.C., in the Okanagan, the Pandom Pine Lumber Co. on April 17th shipped to a firm in Port Arthur a quantity of lumber. It went in a Canadian National Railways freight car, number 587287. On April 23rd the same firm shipped another carload of lumber to the same Port Arthur firm and it went in C. N. car number 587285. As there are about 50,000 of these freight cars registered all over this continent, the consecutive number coincidence is worthy of mention.

Edmonton said good-bye to another body of her sons and other Albertans, when the Fusiliers left the early part of the week for elsewhere in Canada. Later it was reported they had arrived at New Westminster, B. C., bronzed and presenting a smart appearance. They are under command of Lieut.-Colonel Harold Strachan, V. C., and are preparing for active service in the combat zone.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS

The popular song of the moment is "Dandelions and Daffodils."

Miss Margaret Patterson has accepted a position in the grocery department of the F. M. Thompson Co.

Defence Minister Ralston has issued a call for 32,000 new Canadian troops for service within the next two months.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, will visit Lethbridge on June 9 and 10 to conduct practical examinations for the conservatory.

Nick J. Armand, of Kimberley, was drowned at Moyle Lake on Sunday afternoon when he fell out of a boat from which he was fishing. The body was recovered.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Canadian Red Cross reports that its most apportioned warehouse in England, including stocks, has been destroyed by bombs.

The United States has halted all exports to Russia of machinery or equipment which can be utilized in defence production.

Great Britain's exports in 1940, the first full year of the war, scarcely were affected by German submarine.

Queen Mary recently paid one of her now rare visits to London and lunched with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace.

The Jewish agency at Jerusalem called for all bachelors between 23 and 30 years of age to enlist with the British forces.

Sir C. McPherson, chairman of the Australian wheat board, has announced that surplus Australian wheat remaining for export presently totals 16,500,000 bushels.

Maj-Gen. B. C. Freyberg, V.C. commander of the New Zealand expeditionary force, was appointed commander-in-chief of the Allied forces in Crete.

Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia and Lion of Judah, is once more in his native land after years of exile while Ethiopia was in Italian hands.

The war department at Rome announced all university students would be called to arms June 1.

The Song Of Freedom

Hopes Of Conquered Countries Symbolized By Greek Shepherd

An American correspondent, weary and worn with two days of retreat with the Greek and British armies, climbed a high plateau in the plain of Thessaly and,

... heard a bucolic loveliness, heard the tinkling of bells of hundreds of sheep and the notes of a flute played by an aged, wrinkled shepherd sitting under a tree. Pressed for an opinion on the war, the old man said he had none, "and sadly went back to his flute playing."

There is something eternal about Greece. Byron was not the only one who "dreamed" that Greece might still be free. Greece shall be free again and the old man, piping his flute on a plateau in Thessaly, has a greater permanence, there than any driver of a Nazi tank.

Does it look dark for Greece, for the world, for freedom? Perhaps it does. Yet go back a year. The British were then withdrawing from the fiasco in Norway. The fall of France was only weeks away, and there were people then who gave Britain only weeks to live. Yet Britain lived, and in the midst of the Greek tragedy, an old man can still pipe upon a mountain-top.

In this sense, Hitler has not yet conquered a single country, though his legions have achieved (at a price) many victories. His panzer division may drive Greek riflemen before them, but the shepherd is unconquered.

In every conquered country in Europe the people remain forever unconquered, because there is something within them that must remain forever free.

The British Government has disclosed that Charles G. ### A Good Citizen

United States Business Man Proved His Right To Title

The Montreal Star says: This is a true story of a good United States citizen who is also a good Canadian.

A year or so ago a young business man visited the local income tax office. He explained to the official who interviewed him that he had been in business in Canada and wished to settle his 1939 income tax before leaving for Europe to drive an ambulance for the French Army.

The official was interested and ventured the remark that his visitor was giving up a good deal to go "over there." "Is it in the spirit of adventure?" he asked. "Not altogether," was the reply, "but that feeling compels me to do something for people in trouble." He then paid his tax and left.

The official promptly forgot his visitor's name, but not his personality. Later he read a magazine article dealing with the experiences of United States ambulance drivers in France during the German invasion. Reading that story of the "blood, sweat and tears," he wondered what had become of the young American.

One morning in a recent week the tax official walked out of his office to the inquiry counter. In front of the counter stood the young American, as debonair and untroubled as a year before. "Do you remember me?" he asked.

"Remember you?" said the official. "I have thought of you a hundred times." They talked of France. No, said the American, in reply to questions, he did not think the magazine had exaggerated things. In fact, he had written it himself.

"Well," said the income tax man, "what can we do officially for you to-day?"

"You see, it's like this," said the American, "I was in Canada for two months in 1940 and last year we only settled the 1939 tax. I want to pay my 1940 tax before I join the United States Navy."

Gardening

There is nothing to equal the taste of vegetables that have just reached the proper maturity and are fresh from the garden. But too few people with plenty of vegetable garden right at their door get the full benefit of this bounty of the soil. There are a few methods of green peas, baby carrots and beans, which are easy to grow and which are all either the roots are finished or else there is nothing left but matured vegetables. Each should be planted every day or weeks before, when they were full of flavor. With a little foresight and planning, however, these under the sun can be as easily had had really fresh vegetables coming on all through the summer. They could extend even the green pea season to over a month, could have fresh corn from early summer until almost Christmas.

Spreading Out Season
There are two ways to achieve this objective. First, the planting season can be spread over several weeks. Experts advise making at least three sowings of practically all vegetables, the first a week or so before the regular time, the second the regular time and the third a week or ten days later.

Second, by buying early medium and late maturing varieties still more length can be added. With almost all standard vegetables there are varieties that are ready days or weeks before the average, and also others that are ready days or weeks after and also a medium one, the season is greatly lengthened.

Garden Pictures
One can do wonders with flowers alone, but still more amazing results will follow where we combine flowers skilfully with grass, winding walks, shrubbery and bits of stone work. In this combining, however, we must take care not to reproduce a jungle. Flowers and shrubbery must not be so crowded that they become spindly and weak.

Little flowers must not be hidden by tall things like full size marigolds, cosmos or zinnias. Beds must be so arranged that we can keep down weeds and remove fading foliage. Above all we must remember that unless we are still it is best to use a fair amount of lawn as a foreground for our flowers. Lawns are almost vital in creating garden pictures.

Seeds Vital
Seed, while only costing a few cents, is vital to success. We are sure that it will grow into flowers or vegetables suitable to our rigorous Canadian climate. It must be from pure strains, selected and packed by reputable dealers. Some flowers which will do well in the warm climate of Southern England or the United States may prove a disappointment in Canada. The seeds may not in our cool ground, or the plants may not reach blooming stage until the first frost threatens next September.

A French car driven by Benjamin Riley in 1904, is said to be the first motor vehicle, or taxicab, for hire in New York City, and possibly in the United States.

Must Have It Right

Making Dressing For Salad Is Solemn Ritual For Winston Churchill

New light on the versatility of the Empire's war leader is constantly cropping up. It is now disclosed that he is an authority on salad dressings.

Winston Churchill, a firm believer in salads, insists on preparing the dressing himself, according to Phyllis Mair, his former secretary. In her book, "I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary," she relates that the operation of making the dressing "becomes quite a solemn ritual when performed by Mr. Churchill."

"He gets up from the table and marches ceremoniously to the sideboard. First he pours the right amount of oil into a small bowl, then sniffs the vinegar judiciously, and if it passes the test, he adds the right measure to the oil with pepper and salt to taste.

"The whole is mixed vigorously and now, according to Mr. Churchill, comes the most important part. He sprinkles the dressing over the salad which he insists on having served in a very large wooden bowl and, with his usual intense concentration, he mixes the whole very thoroughly but very lightly so as not to spoil the freshness of the leaves. He never rubs the bowl with garlic as many epicures like to do."

Long Journey Ended

Eight Refugees From Norway Reach Vancouver In Small Ketch

Eleven months on the journey, the Kaare II, a 70-foot ketch of 9 tons, put into port at Vancouver from Norway with a party of eight refugees from Nazi persecution abroad.

The eight are part of a family of 23 who fled from Christianund, Norway, last June 9, after they had used their little fish boat to help government officials escape the Nazi net when the German invasion swept their homeland. The other 15 in the party went ashore when the Kaare II reached Halifax and crossed the continent to Vancouver by train.

Skipper of the trim boat was Ottar Novik. Others aboard were Hans, Ove and Haakon Novik, Margot Novik, two brothers, Peder and Ingvar Engvik and their sister, Karen, who is married to one of the Noviks.

Only Ingvar Engvik spoke English but he said "it feels fine" to be in Canada. The Kaare II will shortly take her place with the British Columbia fishing fleet.

The little boat bears the marks of Nazi machine gunning. There is a long gash in the keel of a dinghy lashed against the railing.

STREAMLINED PRINCESS DRESS

By Anne Adams

For that buoyant "jeane alle" look that's so in keeping with the summer season—make this enchanting frock from Pattern 4743. Anne Adams has designed this style for easy cutting, sewing and fitting. The princess lines follow the curves of your figure delightfully and are so quick to stitch. A spirited effect is given at the yokes by the scalloped tops of the panels; the neckline is cut in a becoming square. Don't those unexpected little bands make a gay finish to the puff sleeves? A cool, flared sleeve version is also included. Lace edging and a bow are nice trimming notes. Use contrast for the yoke, bow and sleevebands if you like striking color. Do start this "wear-everywhere" style as soon as possible!

Pattern 4743 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric and ¾ yard lace edging. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 115 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: SAUL'S CONVERSION

Golden text: I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision. Acts 26:19. Lesson, Acts 9:1-31. Devotional reading: Isaiah 61-64.

Explanations and Comments

That the persecutor, Acts 9:1, 2 Philip and other disciples scattered abroad were busy in extending the kingdom of Christ, as we learned last week, but at the same time Saul, who had consented to Stephen's death and had started the persecution of Christ's followers in Jerusalem, was still breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord. "Breathing out threatening" expresses violent anger. Violent emotion exhausts one's vitality which needs to be reinforced by a greater supply of oxygen.

The persecutor arrested in his course, Acts 9:3-9. As Paul was approaching Damascus he was suddenly arrested by a bright light, more dazzling than the Syrian sun, and as he fell to the earth he heard a Voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" The King James' Version adds the phrase, "words which are omitted in our Revised Version because they are not found in the Greek manuscripts. A copyist is believed to have repeated it here in the Vulgate (whence it was translated in the earlier St. James' Version) from Acts 22:10 and 26:14.

"Who are thou, Lord?" was the cry of a man who had reached the end of his own strength and was ready to give Christ a chance with him. "And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" were words recorded here in the King James' Version but omitted from the Revised Version; they are given in Paul's account of his conversion, Acts 22:10. "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest; but rise, and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do." Read Paul's account in Acts 26. Paul was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision; "he did not dispute, evade, or shrink from the vision." He found himself blinded as he arose and was led into Damascus, where he remained for several days. He was then to partake of either food or drink. Under normal conditions Paul would have entered Damascus at the head of a retinue committed to all sorts of cruelty in the arresting and punishing of the followers of Jesus. He came through the gates, however, a humbled man, guided by the hand of another. That picture of him, blinded and stumbling, conjures up a scene that we can never forget.

Never afterwards was Paul himself in doubt as to the reality of Christ's appearing to him. He tells us in First Corinthians (9:1) that in the light he saw Jesus himself, in his risen, glorified body. Christ came to him, he believed, as he had come to the eleven disciples during the forty days after the resurrection—his was the ground on which he claimed apostolic authority with the other apostles: 1 Cor. 15:8; 2 Cor. 11:3; Gal. 2:8; Acts 22:21.

WHEN DEATH WON THE RACE

In the above photo-diagram, sixth in the series, one of the common, yet most easily avoided railway crossing accidents is graphically illustrated. Misjudgment of the speed of a train at a level crossing after dark was responsible for this crash, which could have been so easily averted. Instead of stopping to make sure, the driver raced for the crossing and lost by a narrow margin when train and auto met practically head on. 346 railway crossing accidents occurred in Canada in 1940, and 133 persons lost their lives. 485 more were injured. Stop, look and listen at the crossings.

LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST
CURE THE RHEUMATISM INFECTIONS

The true prevalence of rheumatic infections is unknown because the maldy is not, like scarlet fever, diphtheria, typhoid fever and others, reportable.

Rheumatic infection introduces us to heart disease which with the co-existent blood vessel disease, leads all others in the list of public killers. Rheumatic fever ranks high among the most severe diseases; it is not so amenable to prevention as syphilis and tuberculosis. So far we lag in our efforts to control this crippling disease.

Our efforts in the control of rheumatism must begin in the schools. Examinations of children in schools has uncovered some appalling facts; 80 per cent of the total organic heart disease of school children has a rheumatic origin. This becomes an important problem when we consider that three out of every 100 children are sufferers.

Rheumatic conditions seem to be more frequent among persons living in poor hygienic surroundings. The facts indicate that poverty, malnutrition and unhygienic surroundings are the most favourable for the development of rheumatic infections. Children in families living under the aforementioned conditions are apt to complain of "growing pains"; they fail to gain in weight, have unexplained fever and may exhibit functional heart murmurs. The first attacks occur between the ages of 5 and 12, the peak coming at about 7. They are rare under 2 and uncommon after 40.

A feature of rheumatism is its habit of recurrence; attacks are apt to be repeated with damaging results to the heart.

There is an old theory that cold and damp predispose the body to rheumatic fever. This is probably explained by the fact that there are more cold, grippes and tonsillitis in cold and damp climates.

Prevention is the slogan in rheumatic fever. The child with growing pains, grippes, tonsillitis and sinus attacks should promptly be put to bed; he should remain in bed until well. Infected tonsils and other foci of infection should be removed. Children should be well fed, clothed and cared for. It will pay handsomely to check the onset and course of rheumatic fever.
